The State of Montana and several counties are working as cooperating agencies during the preparation of a resource management plan for the Upper Missouri River Breaks National Monument.

Regularly scheduled interagency team meetings that involve the State of Montana are subject to the Montana “Open Meeting” law. As such, the public has every right to attend and listen to the proceedings during these interagency team meetings.

BLM will abide by these procedures during all regularly scheduled interagency team meetings:

- 1) Whenever possible, meeting dates, times and locations will be posted at least two weeks prior to planned meetings on our web site at www.mt.blm.gov/ldo/um/NewsandUpdatesIndex.htm.
- 2) Any interested stakeholder can attend these meetings in a listening capacity only.
- 3) The ability to actively participate through discussion in these work sessions is reserved for team members and cooperating agencies.
- 4) These guidelines shall apply throughout the meeting day (including breaks and lunch).
